c) Training Opportunity (Brandon Schimelpfenig)

Brandon Schimelpfenig presented a training opportunity coming up in January 2017. The training is three days long and focuses on student/teen/peer courts as a diversion option. Allison Anderson asked if any Council member would want to attend this training and Damon DeBernardi and Thomas Rose stated they would. Dawnessa Snyder proposed to send Brandon Schimelpfenig as well. Jo Ann Numoto brought up the option of sending individuals from the CJSBs. Thomas Rose discussed sending individuals from the local county attorney offices.

Craig Fisgus brought up the possibility of having the funds get dispersed back out to the counties like the CJSBs or another program instead of sending individuals to the training. Brandon Schimelpfenig stated that he would check with his federal contact to see if its possible to disperse the funds back out and report that information back to the Executive committee.

d) 2016 Neal Madson Excellence in Juvenile Justice Award

The 2016 Neal Madson Excellence in Juvenile Justice Award was discussed and it has been narrowed down to two counties; Albany County and Sweetwater County. It was offered up to vote on either Albany County or Sweetwater County or narrow it to one county and decide by majority vote. V. On-Going Business – Updates from:

- a) Governor’s Office (Judge Gary Hartman)
Judge Hartman is not present. No updates
- b) Data Collection Update (Adrienne Freng, Jeff Lamm)
A scope of work has been created for the baseline study for ROM. The scope of work has been included in the Request for Proposal (RFP) and will be submitted to the DFS RFP committee. New dispositions have been added to the CJSB ROM spreadsheet to make for more accurate reporting. A public facing website is the next step for ROM and should be created soon. Discussions will need to be held with DFS and the University of Kansas to make this possible. CJSB designated contacts will be added to the ROM test site so that they become familiar with the site and learn its functions.
- c) DFS Update (Director Corsi)
The Child and Family Services Review (CFSR) review was completed in July and DFS has not received the results back yet. Director Corsi stated that the results should be coming back soon. There was a recent training on IV-E in Cheyenne at the Hathaway Building. The training included criteria for IV-E, and the qualification for IV-E. Director Corsi also stated that the Wyoming Practice Model is starting to catch on in many more counties. The State data system for DFS, SACWIS, is looking to be updated soon but that there might be costs required from the Agency to complete this. Director Corsi and Jeff Lamm stated that discussions are currently being held with federal partners to address these issues. There was also a recent training in DFS called Theory of Constraints focusing on problem solving methods. CORE training is being revised. Director Corsi also brought up budget updates and stated that the State has about a $156 million deficit at the moment and stated that $52 million of that $156 million is actual budget deficits and $102 million are statutory requirements from agencies that need to be deposited into the State’s “rainy day” fund. It was asked of Director Corsi about discussions within the Legislature concerning redefining the Wyoming Boys School (WBS) and Wyoming Girls School (WGS). Director Corsi stated that he is not aware of any discussions or intentions from the Legislature concerning this. It was also asked of Director Corsi concerning sending CHINS juveniles to the WBS and WGS. Director Corsi stated that there never was a proposal just discussions regarding this issue. He stated that these discussions will continue.
- d) Non-Participating State Grant (VOA) (Craig Figus)
There has been an extension on the 2015 Nonparticipating State Award from OJJDP. VOA was not notified that Wyoming was going to be receiving any Non-Participating

State funds from OJJDP until the end of September 2016. Craig Fisgus stated that he has communicated with counties that once proposals are awarded from OJJDP that the funding stream will begin in April 2017. He also stated that the total amount of available subgrant funding will be reduced this year. While this funding stream was first reduced in 2012, VOA has been able to delay this impact by combining subgrants. This year, VOA no longer has that option.

e) CHINS and WBS/WGS: Letter

The Best Practices Committee and Donna Sheen met to draft a letter to the Governor stating the Council's disapproval of the discussion of sending more CHINS juveniles to the WBS and WGS. Paul stated that the CJSB serves Mercer House, Progressive Youth, Handel, drug testing and UAs, Call 2 Test, and also training. Paul stated that the District Attorney in Natrona County recently moved to a software system called JustWare 2. He also stated that Natrona County is slowly phasing out Handel due to the DA's office not wanting to enter data in triplicate (Handel, JustWare 2, and the ROM spreadsheet). Natrona County is currently working on hosting a restorative justice conference due to take place in March 2017. Paul stated that Mercer House in Casper currently houses a program for CHINS prevention. Paul was asked about the Youth Empowerment Council (YEC) in Casper and he stated that it is facilitated by Mercer House and is comprised of students and focuses on anti-bullying presentations, substance abuse prevention, and community service. The YEC's main emphasis now is going into middle schools and high schools in Natrona County and host suicide prevention peer to peer discussions. With the recent downturn in Wyoming's economy, Paul stated that the things Natrona County fears most about losing is community services.

VII. Committees (Strategic Plan)

a) Executive Committee – Shad Bates

Allison Anderson gave an update from the Executive Committee. The 2016 Annual Report from the Council will need to be compiled soon for the Governor focusing on the main points in the Strategic Plan. b) Grants Committee – Shad Bates

There will be a conference call with Craig Fisgus and VOA regarding funding from the Non-Participating State grant on November 28, 2016.

c) Best Practices – Allison Anderson/Nicole Hauser

There was a call with the Best Practices committee focusing on the three questions from Director Corsi and Judge Hartman from the September 2016 meeting. The questions were: 1) What are the juvenile justice issues that need improvement or that the Council can accomplish in the next 28 months; the remainder of Governor Mead's term? 2) Are there long term juvenile justice issues that the Council should consider and could work on that will carry on to the next Governor's administration? 3) What are the current issues facing the juvenile justice court that the Council may want to attend or assist with?

Allison stated that the current juvenile justice issues the Council could address within the next 28 months were to continue on the focus of front-end services and how those services could save on the back-end. This included CJSBs, diversion programs, and family support and prevention services. She also stated that funds should not be stripped from the front-end services for quick fixes to other budgetary shortfalls. It was also discussed to keep focusing on quality data collection with the ROM system. Concerning the question on if there are long term juvenile justice issues that could stem into the next Governor's administration it was stated that the Council should continue to follow the changes and requirements from OJJDP and making sure to understand the implications of how Wyoming would be affected with being a Non-Participating state. She stated that the Council is not considering participation with OJJDP but that the Council should follow updates on the ramifications of other states that also choose to be non-participatory and how that would affect counties currently utilizing those funds. It was stated the Council should focus on exploring revisions to CHINS to better incorporate and support to families as a whole in regards to services and development. She also stated that the Council will need to reestablish focus on effective family engagement. The family-centered-practice approach seems to have become less followed in some counties. In regards to the issues facing the juvenile justice court system, Allison stated the Council does not support CHINS cases being a standardized option for placement at the WBS and WGS but would encourage continued conversations with judges in regards to placement options and opportunities that in the best interest of children. It was stated that the Council would be willing to help the Governor's Office facilitate conversations regarding the concerns surrounding placement options that they might be seeking. It was also mentioned that the Council would like to see the finalized 2016 CFSR report.

The draft letter of the CHINS memo to the Governor was distributed to Council and input was asked regarding content or grammatical changes. There was a change requested in the first sentence in #2 regarding a grammatical error. There was also a question raised by Chuck Kratz regarding a sentence stating the WGS and WBS are "secure facilities". He also asked about possibly inserting citations regarding the research in the letter. Shad Bates stated that he agrees and suggest changing the language to reflect that the facilities are not "detention facilities". Narina Nunez suggested adding language regarding the research that delinquents and non-delinquents should not be housed together. There was also another grammatical error in the beginning that was suggested to be changed.
